Gregory J. Mincey, MD joined the Carolina Eye staff in 1983. His specialty covers the treatment and surgery of diseases and disorders affecting the back of the eye including diabetic eye disorders, macular degeneration, retinal detachments and trauma to the eye.

Dr. Mincey lives in Pinehurst and is married to Jody and has two sons, Patrick and Drew, who are students at Mercer University of Law and Johns Hopkins University. Dr. Mincey enjoys running, sailing, flyfishing, and flying.

“Vitreoretinal surgery is a relatively new discipline in eye surgery and participating in the rapid technical advances has been thrilling. At Carolina Eye I have had the opportunity to engage in clinical research while providing the latest, most advanced, techniques to our patients.”
