Gregory J. Mincey, M.D., joined the staff of Carolina Eye in 1983. His specialty covers the treatment and surgery of diseases and disorders affecting the back of the eye. This includes diabetic eye disorders, macular degeneration, retinal detachments and trauma to the eye.

Dr. Mincey lives in Pinehurst with his wife, Jody. They have two sons, Patrick, an attorney in Wilmington, N.C. and Drew, an ophthalmology resident at the University of Virginia. Dr. Mincey enjoys sailing, fly fishing and flying.

"Vitreoretinal surgery is a relatively new discipline in eye surgery and participating in the rapid technical advances has been thrilling. At Carolina Eye I have had the opportunity to engage in clinical research while providing the latest, most advanced techniques to our patients."
